The Christmas Tree at the Episcopal Church

All of the seats at the Episcopal church were filled last night by both adults and children to witness the distribution of Christmas presents to the Sunday school children. The tree was neatly trimmed and tastefully decorated by Mesdames J. R. Harris, F. E. Brents, O. E. Merton, Mrs. Louthan and Wm F. Granlee for which they deserve more than the usual mention. All of the children received presents together with oranges, candy, pop corn, etc. Mrs. Brents received a present that will require her constant care and a large expenditure of money annually to keep it in the latest style, while Mrs. Merton came in for her share of presents which will need her attention daily for the next two or three years. Rector J. M. Wright made a very good talk to the children after which the ladies of the Guild presented the Rector with a very handsome Rocking chair to which he thanked the Guild in a very appropriate and witty speech. Dr. T. H. Williams, and L. D. Stone, made themselves very useful in distributing the presents which they did in a skillful manner. Every one present enjoyed themselves and upon the whole the program and Christmas tree was pronounced a success.

Messrs Nat Martin and Geo. A. King, members of a party of prospectors from Minnesota, were callers at this office yesterday and left liberal contribution in the way of subscriptions to the Express. They are all delighted with this country and coming back in a short time.

J. H. Starkey, mentioned in yesterday's Express, has decided to move immediately to Chickasha having rented a house here and has gone to Texas to making arrangements to be here early in February. He is advertising in the Express wanting to rent land in the Chickasaw nation near Chickasha.

The new street commissioner is doing some work that shows for itself. The avenue is getting into very nice shape.

Tom Irving, the electric light man was out looking after his new last night. Mr. Irving made pretty good time when the plant broke down Sunday night. The break down occurred at exactly 12:38 a. m. The south-bound train is due at 1:10 a. m. Tom looked up the break, detached the broken part and boxed it, changed his working clothes, came up to his office, in rear of Bank of Chickasha, and got a blank check, found a man down town who could and did cash the check, and was at the depot in time for the south-bound train. He just missed connection in Ft. Worth for waco, otherwise he would have been home 24 hours earlier, that is, he would have been home on Tuesday afternoon instead on Wednesday and the lights would have been on Tuesday night.

waco has the largest electrical supply house this side of St. Louis.

Messrs. D. B. Armstrong and Parley Shoup, of Langia, Indiana, prospecting in this country were in yesterday, and expressed themselves as well pleased with the everything. Of course they read the Express.

The Express mailed out 700 copies of 80 pages of the proceedings of the W. C. T. U. of Oklahoma last week which met the highest approval of the president, Mrs. Dorothy O. Cleveland, of Alandarko and we think she is a good judge of good printing.

Conductor Quick came from Ft. Worth last night on his usual run. He was very sick then and is now ill at his home on West Chickasha avenue, with a gripe.

J. A. Ware is at home from a holiday visit with friends in St. Louis. Mr. Ware's trip combined business and pleasure. Mrs. Ware extends her visit a few days.

Foreman McLain of the Daily department of the Express has been on the sick list for this week and has demoralized things in this office. Then Major Dawson tried to commit hari-kari and things are apt to go wrong under such circumstances. They will both on days next week probably and things will be better.
